

Justifying your Participation in ASPL's Developments in Pharmacy Law Seminar

Benefits

Each attendee has different objectives in mind when registering for an event like Developments in Pharmacy Law. Examine this list of possibilities and decide which best supports your organization's mission and sharpens your competitive edge.

Awareness - gain valuable professional knowledge on hot button issues facing our profession

Education - learn from thought leaders, experts and peers on the latest findings in pharmacy and pharmacy law, best practices to integrate into your own work, and the latest regulatory and legislative activities

Business - tap your professional connections, old and new for new business leads and competitive intelligence

Networking - grow your professional relationships with pharmacy and pharmacy law colleagues and decision makers - take the pulse of what's happening in the field

For best rates, become an ASPL member and register before the "early bird" deadline of September 28, 2018.

Justification

Need to make the case to your supervisor to attend Developments in Pharmacy Law Seminar? Click the link on the event homepage to download the Letter to Supervisor which details all of the reasons you would benefit from attending.

Follow-Up

Be sure to follow-up with your supervisor by reporting on your conference experience. The following checklist presents suggestions for follow-up after the conference to document the value of participation in the Developments in Pharmacy Law Seminar.

- Review and identify the educational and other programs that are applicable and most valuable for your organization (session summaries are available in the ASPL registration brochure.)
- Attend those specific sessions first before attending others.
- Write a short description of sessions attended that are not identified as "most valuable" and identify any application for the business.
- Document any client interactions, both formal and informal.
- Write a summary following the conference and submit it to your supervisor.